To the left is an example of a self assessment rubric for following directions when making a scrapbook page for the letter W. This student self assessed correctly, circling the smiley face and crossing out the frowning face for each step he performed until reaching the last step of gluing the worms. This student chose to color in the worms rather than use glue and yarn. When provided feedback, the student colored in the last box done correctly to highlight his completion of following directions rather than acknowledge where he ceased to follow directions.
